Leading Through Climate Chaos

Jamie McLeod-Skinner, MS Sage Consulting Services
Natalie Rogers, City of Milwaukie
Cascade EF

Leading during crises takes a particular skill set. One need only review the events of the last few years to see the value in developing these skills as local government employees. Many of the emergencies facing Oregonians - like forest fires, unhealthy air quality, and extreme heat - are the consequences of a warming planet. Leading Through Climate Chaos will introduce attendees to why this is important, what can be done about it, and how to demonstrate the value of this work to our stakeholders. Our speakers have direct experience with the impacts of climate change and the steps you can take to prepare your organizations and communities for the future. Through their stories and breakout discussions, we hope this session will help you to understand how climate change impacts local governments and how - as employees - we can provide leadership.

How To Use Social Media to Strengthen Your Organization

Lysa Vattimo, Madras Downtown Association
Cascade EF

Everyone will tell you that your organization needs to be on social media. It will build your brand, get you in front of the right people, etc. All good things. But. What they fail to mention is that there can be several pitfalls to social media if you don't have a solid plan in place. This breakout session will highlight the top pitfalls, but most importantly provide tips to help you make a plan to get the most out of social media for your organization.
